CRIMINOGENIC NEEDS NARRATIVE SUMMARY

ReEntry Substance Abuse

Reentry Substance Abuse Scale Score: Unlikely

[Client]'s substance abuse scale score suggests that she is unlikely to have a substance abuse problem.

Reentry Substance Abuse Statement:

(Client) reported no instances of committing any offenses while high/drunk. She did not report any prior drug charges/convictions. (Client) IE did not report any prior history of drug problems and indicated no history of alcohol problems. (Client) drug/ NA did not report any prior treatments for drug/alcohol abuse and did not indicate any history of failed UA tests. [REDACTED]

Reentry Substance Abuse Treatment Implications:

For inmates scoring probable or highly probable it is advisable to assess the extent of previous treatments, current attitudes to treatment, and the responsivity of the inmate. A more specialized substance abuse assessment inventory (i.e. ASI, SASSI, etc.) may also be useful to determine the appropriate level of treatment upon release. Relapse prevention plans may be critical for such inmates upon release to the community.

Comments:

There are currently no comments on this narrative.

Negative Social Cognitions

Negative Social Cognitions Scale Score: Unlikely

(Client)'s scale score indicates that she is unlikely to have a negative or mistrusting view of social interactions or relationships.

Negative Social Cognitions Statement:

(Client) indicated that it would not be difficult to learn to control her temper. She indicated that it would not be difficult to keep control of herself when other people make her mad. (Client) reported that she mostly disagrees that she feels that other people get more breaks than her. She reported that she mostly disagrees that people have let her down or disappointed her. (Client) reported that she mostly disagrees that she likes to be in control in most situations. She reported that she mostly disagrees that she will argue to win with other people even over unimportant things. (Client) reported that she mostly disagrees that when angry, she says unkind or hurtful things to people. She reported that she mostly disagrees that people are talking about her behind her back. (Client) reported that she mostly disagrees that she feels it is best to trust no one. She reported that she mostly disagrees that she prefers to be the one who is in charge in her relationships with other people. (Client) reported that she mostly disagrees that she often loses her temper. She reported that she mostly disagrees that she gets angry at other people easily. (Client) reported that she mostly disagrees that she feels that she has been mistreated by other people. She reported that she mostly disagrees that she feels that she has enemies that are out to hurt her in some way. (Client) reported that she mostly disagrees that when dealing with new people she quickly figures out whether they are strong or weak. She reported that she mostly disagrees that she often feels a lot of anger inside herself. (Client) reported that she mostly disagrees she feels that life has given her a raw deal. She reported that she mostly disagrees that when people are being nice, she worries about what they really want. (Client) reported that she mostly disagrees that when other people tell her what to do, she gets angry. She reported that she mostly disagrees that other people seem afraid of her. (Client) reported that she mostly disagrees she often gets angry, but then she gets over it quickly.

Negative Social Cognitions Treatment Implications:

Scores of 7 and above may suggest a need for cognitive restructuring intervention as part of the case management plan. A high score on this scale may also indicate the need for close supervision of the case. For very high scoring cases cognitive interventions, coupled with substance abuse treatment (for example), may best begin in a controlled setting that is separated from all of the community/peer distractions. This might be sequenced prior to other community placement/probation program conditions.

Comments:

There are currently no comments on this narrative.

Low Self-Efficacy/Optimism

Low Self-Efficacy/Optimism Scale Score: Unlikely

(Client)'s scale score suggests that she is unlikely to have low self-efficacy in her ability to deal with the various challenges of reentering the community.

Low Self-Efficacy/Optimism Statement:

(Client) indicated that it would not be difficult to manage her money. She indicated that it would not be difficult to find people that she can trust. (Client) indicated that it would not be difficult to find friends who will be a good influence on her. She indicated that it would not be difficult to avoid risky situations. (Client) indicated that it would not be difficult to learn better skills to get a job. She indicated that it would not be difficult to support herself financially without using illegal ways to get money. (Client) indicated that it would not be difficult to get along with people. She indicated that it would not be difficult to avoid spending too much time with people that could get her into trouble. (Client) indicated that it would not be difficult to avoid risky sexual behavior. She indicated that it would not be difficult to avoid slipping back into illegal activities. (Client) indicated that it would not be difficult to deal with loneliness. She indicated that it would not be difficult to avoid places or situations that may get her into trouble. (Client) indicated that it would not be difficult to learn to be careful about choices she makes. She indicated that it would not be difficult to find people to do things with. (Client) indicated that it would not be difficult to learn to avoid saying things to people that she later regrets.

Low Self-Efficacy/Optimism Treatment Implications:

Persons who lack such optimism or self-efficacy appear less likely to be able to cope successfully with various challenges of re-entry. Treatment implications would focus primarily upon building skills, confidence and optimism on the part of the re-entry client. Thus, skill-building as well as cognitive interventions would be implied.

Comments:

There are currently no comments on this narrative.

Low Family Support

Low Family Support Scale Score: Unlikely

(Client)'s Family Support Scale score suggests that she has supportive family. (Client) should be encouraged to draw on this strength to meet expectations and to stay out of trouble.

Low Family Support Statement:

(Client) indicated that she intends to stay with family when released. She indicated that she is not estranged from family. (Client) indicated that family members did visit her periodically during her incarceration. She indicated that she believes that other relatives are supportive. There appears to be evidence of family support.

Low Family Support Treatment Implications:

The case management strategy may be to see if family bonds can be strengthened or reestablished, if appropriate.

Comments:

There are currently no comments on this narrative.

ReEntry Financial

Reentry Financial Scale Score: Unlikely

(Client)'s self-reported information suggests that she is unlikely to have significant financial problems upon release.

Reentry Financial Statement:

(Client) suggested that money will not be a problem when she is released. She indicated that it will not be difficult to manage her money and indicated that it will not be difficult to have enough money to get by and reported that it will not be difficult to find a job that pays more than minimum wage and that supporting herself financially without using illegal ways to get money will not be difficult. (Client) did not appear to expect any financial problems upon release.

Reentry Financial Treatment Implications:

Scores of probable or highly probable typically suggest a need to address the inmates financial plans prior to release. Developing a realistic budget and money management skills as well as employability skills and a job seeking plan may be addressed either prior to and after release.

Comments:

There are currently no comments on this narrative.

ReEntry Employment Expectations

Reentry Employment Expectations Scale Score: Unlikely

The Vocational and Education Scale score suggests (Client) may not need vocational or educational treatment intervention.

Reentry Employment Expectations Statement:

(Client) reported completing her high school diploma or GED. (Client) appeared to be job ready (skilled, semi-skilled, or professionally skilled). (Client) indicated being unable to work or was retired and appeared likely to face employability problems upon release.

(Client) reported feeling it will be difficult to find a steady job. She reported that it will not be difficult to learn better skills to get a job. (Client) did not think that it would be difficult to keep a job once she has found one and reported that it will not be difficult to find a job that pays more than minimum wage.

Reentry Employment Expectations Treatment Implications:

Probable or highly probable scores suggest that vocational, employability and/or educational skills training may be helpful either prior to or upon release. This might include job seeking, job maintenance skill or other specific job skills.
